

Coaching 101

Presented by the
The Episcopal Diocese of Pittsburgh and
The Titus Institute for Church Planting

Coaching 101, basic coach training for ministry leaders, will be presented at St. Stephen's Church, Sewickley, September 11-12, 2008. The training is part of a cooperative effort between the Episcopal Diocese of Pittsburgh and the Titus Institute for Church Planting's (TICP) Coach Certification program.

Ministry coaching has recently found its way in to the life of many denominations, although it is a popular leadership tool used by executives in the secular world for many years. Coaching helps leaders to be more intentional and effective in their development of other Christian leaders, and its skills can impact all relationships, not just those in ministry.

Coaching 101 Seminar Schedule

Thursday, September 11

6:30 to 9 p.m. Coaching 101—Basic Building Blocks

Friday, September 12

9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Coaching 101—The Coaching Process

Presenter Jenni Bartling

Jenni Bartling is a certified ministry coach who has provided coach training to more than 300 ministry leaders. She believes that coaching is an integral part of growing and multiplying healthy churches. Having worked closely with church planting expert Dr. Bob Logan on the staff of CoachNet International Ministries for several years, Bartling now focuses her energy on developing church plants and empowering excellent coaches in the Episcopal Diocese of Pittsburgh and for the Titus Institute for Church Planting, serving the Common Cause Partners. She is also the founder of Your Silent Partner Coaching Ministry, "Asking the right questions, so you discover the right answers."
